Jameela Jamil Podcast #3

Did you have a favorite Podcast? If so, why?

1. Katrina Lake, Stitch Fix

- When Katrina spoke about the entrepreneurs pitching at the VC fund she worked for being “normal unqualified people”, what were your thoughts?
- “When you are doing something that nobody else is doing, you are either the smartest ... or the stupidest person in the room.” What do you think about that statement?

2. Bozoma Saint John, A Few lessons on Being Unapologetic (discussion topics)

- Comments on “ Adversity is a really important thing”?
- The feeling of “not belonging” in a room. How do YOU combat that?

3. Jameela Jamil Stops Being Polite

- Comments on not caring about being polite or likeable.
- Jameela describes the violent language used to describe peaceful discourse between her and other women of color. Have you seen women or women of color being represented or interpreted this way? How do you think this can affect women in business or their careers?
- What do you think of the mentality of being self-made in America? Do you think it makes admitting you had help hard? Do you think that successful people have usually had help?
